Australia is home to hundreds of distinct Aboriginal language groups, each with its own cradle songs passed down for tens of thousands of years — among the oldest continuous song traditions on Earth. Because these lullabies belong specifically to the communities and languages that created them, this song is offered as a general, original tribute to that vast landscape and its ancient sense of stillness, rather than a specific cultural text.

Original lullaby inspired by Australia's landscape, offered as a general and respectful tribute. Not a translation or representation of any specific Aboriginal language or community's lullaby.
