Am Dm Am
Sleep now, little one, the araucaria stands so still,
Dm Am E7
the southern rain has quieted now, upon the forest hill.
Sleep now, little one, the woven cloth is warm, tomorrow's sun will rise for you, and shield you from the storm.

“Sleep now, little one, the araucaria stands so still, the southern rain has quieted now, upon the forest hill. Sleep now, little one, the woven cloth is warm, tomorrow's sun will rise for you, and shield you from the storm.”
